1. INTRODUCTION

National Integration is very important for any country with socio cultural, religious geographical, diversities. And for our country, it is more necessary. As we know that, our country is very large in land size and we have the second largest population in the world. In our country all the major religions of the world are practiced here such as Hinduism, Islam, Buddhism, Sikhism, Jainism, and others. Almost 1000 language that people of India speak. There are varieties of costumes, food habit, and social customs. There are amazing difference in climate in various place. But despite all these differences India is one political country. we have to survive haply with each other peacefully, respect other culture and religion.

National Integration means living harmoniously without having hatred, jealousy or prejudice against another person or community.

Shri Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru convened National Integration conference in September October 1961 to find ways and means to combat the evils of communalism, castism , regionalism , linguistic and narrow minded and to formulate definite conclusion in order to give a leave to the country.

In one word we can say National Integration is the Awareness of a common identity amongst the citizens of the country.

- social equality is the best weapon to find against the threat and challenges of national integration .
- National Integration depends on some particular ideas, thoughts, values , morals and belief of the nation .
- maintaining Unity in the nation is essential.
- National Integration is essential for a nation to build strong.
- National Integration help in stabilizing democracy, increasing economic growth and developing the nation.

Need for national integration :- to strengthen our nation , protect constitution values, prevent conflicts , remove social injustices, generate economic growth and development, preserve democracy, protect our country for foreign aggression.

Various religious and secular organization have the started aim of achieving world peace through addressing Human Rights, Technology, education, medicine or diplomacy used as an end to all forms of fighting. In 1945 the United Nation and five permanent members of its Security Council China, France, Russia, the United Kingdom and the United States have operated under the aim to resolve conflicts without war.

21st September is celebrated as International Day of peace in every year it is established in 1981 by the United Nation general assembly.

Role Of a teacher in promoting national integration :-

Government has taken so many steps to provide quality education in different institution but these steps are not getting taken because there is no visible crisis pushing the people to act. most of the student try to follow the teachers point of view, as it is very easy to transform the children. Teacher should be roll model for the children even in their personal life. They should not be partial towards their own religion, cast and creed. Real aim of education can be fulfilled by teachers only. so it is the duty of every teacher to pass on proper education to coming generation. so that coming generation for the national integration and peace in our country.

1.2 Need for peace in India :-

If there is peace in India only than, India as Nations can go forward the law and order situation in the country is not very happy. there has been Communal trouble which time is the result of de liberate effort to create trouble. this type of situation within the country cannot allow political stability and economic betterment. if there is an atmosphere of suspicious distrust of fear and aggressiveness, it is not possible to think of constructive progress.

1.3 Conclusion :

The education system in this country should be overhauled at all level to incorporate components of our Heritage and Culture in Greater measures. the education system should embrace the dedicated Institutions, the home and the society the best form the west should be Incorporated, the story, poem, song, arts, morals, values and meaning that have come down to us for generation past, should remain essential part of who are and should be cherished.
