Introduction: The word Meme is rooted in Greek, meaning that which is imitated. The unique selling proposition for memes is their way of communicating feelings, perspectives, views and attitude in specific situations. A research indicates that millennials spend around 200 minutes online every day and there is a huge chance that these millennials and Gen Zers are spending time viewing, laughing on and sharing the memes online. Hence, there is no doubt that marketers are fast picking up on this trend to promote their products/services on social media platforms and these memes prove effective for brands because along with entertainment, they also provide value to their viewers. Memes have been popularly termed as Coffee of 2019, people all across are dependent on that daily release of dopamine in their brains through a laugh at their favourite ones. According to Telegraph, the average human attention span has reduced from 12 seconds to 8 seconds and hence, people are less likely to see a whole video or read an article or even read news online. Reading an article or watching a video requires a large portion of their time while scrolling through the feed of a social media hardly requires few seconds of focus per post.

Literature Review:

According to Prof Mike Watson, in the 21st century, “Memes are an image, video, piece of text, etc., typically humorous in nature that is copied and spread rapidly by internet users, often with slight variations.” It has been found that in last 2 years, the search for memes has surpassed the search for the word of Jesus. The 2 basic reasons stated for their popularity are that they can be easily by anyone and everyone and another reason being, it connects the sender and the receiver emotionally.

Borgaonkar A, Why is the popularity of Memes increasing rapidly on social media, December 18, 2017

Few fun facts about Memes are, it is physically not possible to count the number of Memes available on the internet, nearly 60% of Memes are political in nature, these have become so popular that there are apps available that allow the user to create their own memes, the 5 most popular memes are: Harambe, Condescending Wonka, LOLCats, Squinting Fry and Success Kid

10 most popular Internet Themes (in History)
However, memes are not just created for entertainment of viewers; marketers have their objective of promoting their product/service through this form of viral marketing. This is because, unlike other images, memes have their own place in the customers’ minds, a recall value and their own names like stated in the previous paragraph. Besides, memes are generic nature so much so that any person can create, own and share a meme. Just like a favourite song, a meme too stays for considerably long span in customer’s mind. Hence, Memes have also proved to be an effective Marketing tool which further makes it successful.

Research Methodology:

Method of sampling used: Simple Random Sampling

Method of Data collection: Primary data was collected by distributing a Questionnaire via Google Forms and a small sample of 90 respondents was collected from mainly the city of Pune, Maharashtra, India.

While, Secondary data was collected through other research papers and online sources

Objectives:

1. To analyse and understand the success rate of Memes pages on social media platforms
2. To check the rate of awareness regarding Memes amongst respondents
3. To know the reasons behind the popularity of Memes pages

Scope:

1. The geographical focus of this study is Pune while, the major age group being studied is 18-33 years. However, there are a small percentage of responses received from people of other cities in Maharashtra and different age groups too.
2. The inferences presented in this paper are based on the responses received under this study which is limited to 90.
Analysis and Interpretation:
