

Role of Parental Involvement in Skill development among youth for future

Sulochna, Research Scholar

Department of Education, KUK

sulochna.bhambhu89@gmail.com, Ph:- 9813701493

ABSTRACT

The purpose of this article in present scenario is to examine the role of parental involvement in skill development among youth for future. Parental involvement is involvement of the parents in home and school environment; they support their children not only in their educational process but also in development of different types of skills which are very important for a better future. It is not something that one can get away from once the time comes, but the children need their parents from time to time, to stay on the right track in their life. In this way parenting is an ongoing and never ending job. Parents plan the things for bright and shiny future of their children. Thus the parents play a pivotal role in overall development of a child. In this constantly changing social, economic and political environment, development of skills among youth become an essential part of life to meet the challenges of everyday life and for better adjustment in future life. It is the right guidance of the parents that develops the character of the child. So alertness about life skills and advantages of having high-quality skills, are very important for preparing the youth for happy and successful future in life. The present paper deals with the role of parental involvement in skill development among youth for future.

KEYWORDS: - Skills development, Youth, Parental involvement, Future

INTRODUCTION

India is one of the fastest growing economies of the world and needs a new generation of skilled people. To make skilled India, education system must be according to new global environment by inspiring creativity and improving quality of education and training at all levels. Skill development has been a critical program of the government of India. The growth of a country in all fields like social, political, economic sector depends mostly only on the youth. Youth has an important role for the society. They can perform better with a fresh energy and new thinking and ensure the development of the country. The future of our nation lies on the hand of the youth of today, so the youth have the power to reshape the nation's present appearance.

Need of Skill development in Youths

Skill development among is considered one of the important aspect for better future for youth. The government of India has taken out several plans for development of skills, but they are not sufficient to provide opportunities for skill development training in India. They need to emphasize skill development programs and help the individuals to make use of their talent and knowledge. Today everyone wants to establish a good career for this; proper skill development trainings are required. It comes up to be an important part of any individual youth's career. Skill development increases the proficiency of a person in any particular area. Skill development helps the individuals to achieve a good career in life.

Role of Parental Involvement in Skill development

Parent involvement is a multidimensional broad term that refers to parental attitudes, expectations, and behaviors related to their child's academic achievement such as communicating with the school or helping a child with school work in the home. It is involvement of the parents in home and school environment; they support their children not only in their educational process but also in development of different types of skills which are very important for a better future. Parents play a pivotal role, especially in the life skill development of Children. The degree of responsiveness of a parent can enhance the skills of their children.

The following recommendations are suggested for life skill development:-

- Focus on the child's strength
- Set reasonable expectations
- Provide guidance needed for independence
- Maintain consistence discipline
- Listen to your child's feelings
- Be sensitive to need of child
- Be emotionally present for child
- Build trust, Love and fair play in relationship

CONCLUSION

Parenting and child development go hand in hand. When children are growing up, positive parental involvement improves their cognitive, social and problem skills. Positive parental involvement also affects their responses and help them grow up and to be better human being. A parent is the most important significant person in a child's life. In spite of this the parent has to play the most important role in the overall development of the child. The development of life skills in children is all the more important, to save the child from degenerating and to build up the potential of the child to the maximum. Parents must remember that supportive families encourage each other to learn and offer the possibility to be better. Therefore they must create an environment that motivates the child to participate, educate, practice all good skills for a better future.

REFERENCES

- Baumirind, D. (1991). The Influence of Parenting Style on Adolescent Competence and Substance Use. The Journal of Early Adolescence, 56-95.
- Census . (2015). <https://www.census2011.co.in/disability.php>. Retrieved MAY 7, 2018, from census 2011 website: <https://www.census2011.co.in>
- Diane, H. (1995). On a Quarter Century of Early Childhood Intervention ,Down Syndrome
- Gresham, F. M., & Elliott, S. N. (1990). Social skills rating system: Manual. Circle Pines, MI: American Guidance Service.
- Grolnick, W.S., & Slowiaczek, M.L. (1994). Parents' involvement in children's schooling: A multidimensional conceptualization and motivational model. Child Development, 65(1), 237–252.
- Goel, U. (2015). A Study of Social Skills of Sr. Secondary School Students in Relation to their Gender, Locale and Type of Family. Indian Journal of Applied Research, 5 (4), 834-836.
- Hosokawa, R., Katsura, T. & Shizawa, M. (2015). The relationship between social skills, fathers' involvement, and economic status in preschool children. Journal of Health Science, 5(3), 52-57. doi: 10.5923/j.health.20150503.02.
- Jaiswal, S. K., & Choudhuri R. (2017). A Review of the relationship between parental involvement and students' academic performance. International Journal of Indian Psychology, 4 (3), 2349-3429

Johnson, D. j. (1999). www.idonline.org/article/helping young children with learning disability at home.

Retrieved May 7, 2018, from LDAweb site: www.idonline.org

Kol, S. (2016). The effects of the parenting styles on social skills of children aged 5-6. The Malaysian Online Journal of Educational Sciences, 4(2) 49-58.

Kuran, B. (2018). Research of social skills of children who attend to kindergarten according to the attitudes of their mothers. Journal of Education and Training Studies, 6 (3), 2324-8068.

Lea Bornstein, M. H. (2014). <http://www.child-encyclopedia.com/parentingskills/according-experts/parenting-styles-and-child-social-development>. Retrieved may 7, 2018, from Encyclopedea on early childhood development: <http://www.childencyclopedia.com>

WHO. (2007). Life Skills education for children and adolescents in School. geneva: WHO

